

Texas Hill Country Water Management Districts

Raymond M. Slade, Jr,
Certified Professional Hydrologist

Additional information regarding water management districts and Texas water law is presented by the Hill Country Alliance in a presentation named “Basic law and management of Texas waters” at <http://www.hillcountryalliance.org/HCA/Presentations>

Under authority of the Texas Water Code

<http://tlo2.tlc.state.tx.us/statutes/wa.toc.htm>

Groundwater Districts manage groundwater in the State, and, River Authorities and Special Law Districts manage surface water.

Groundwater Districts

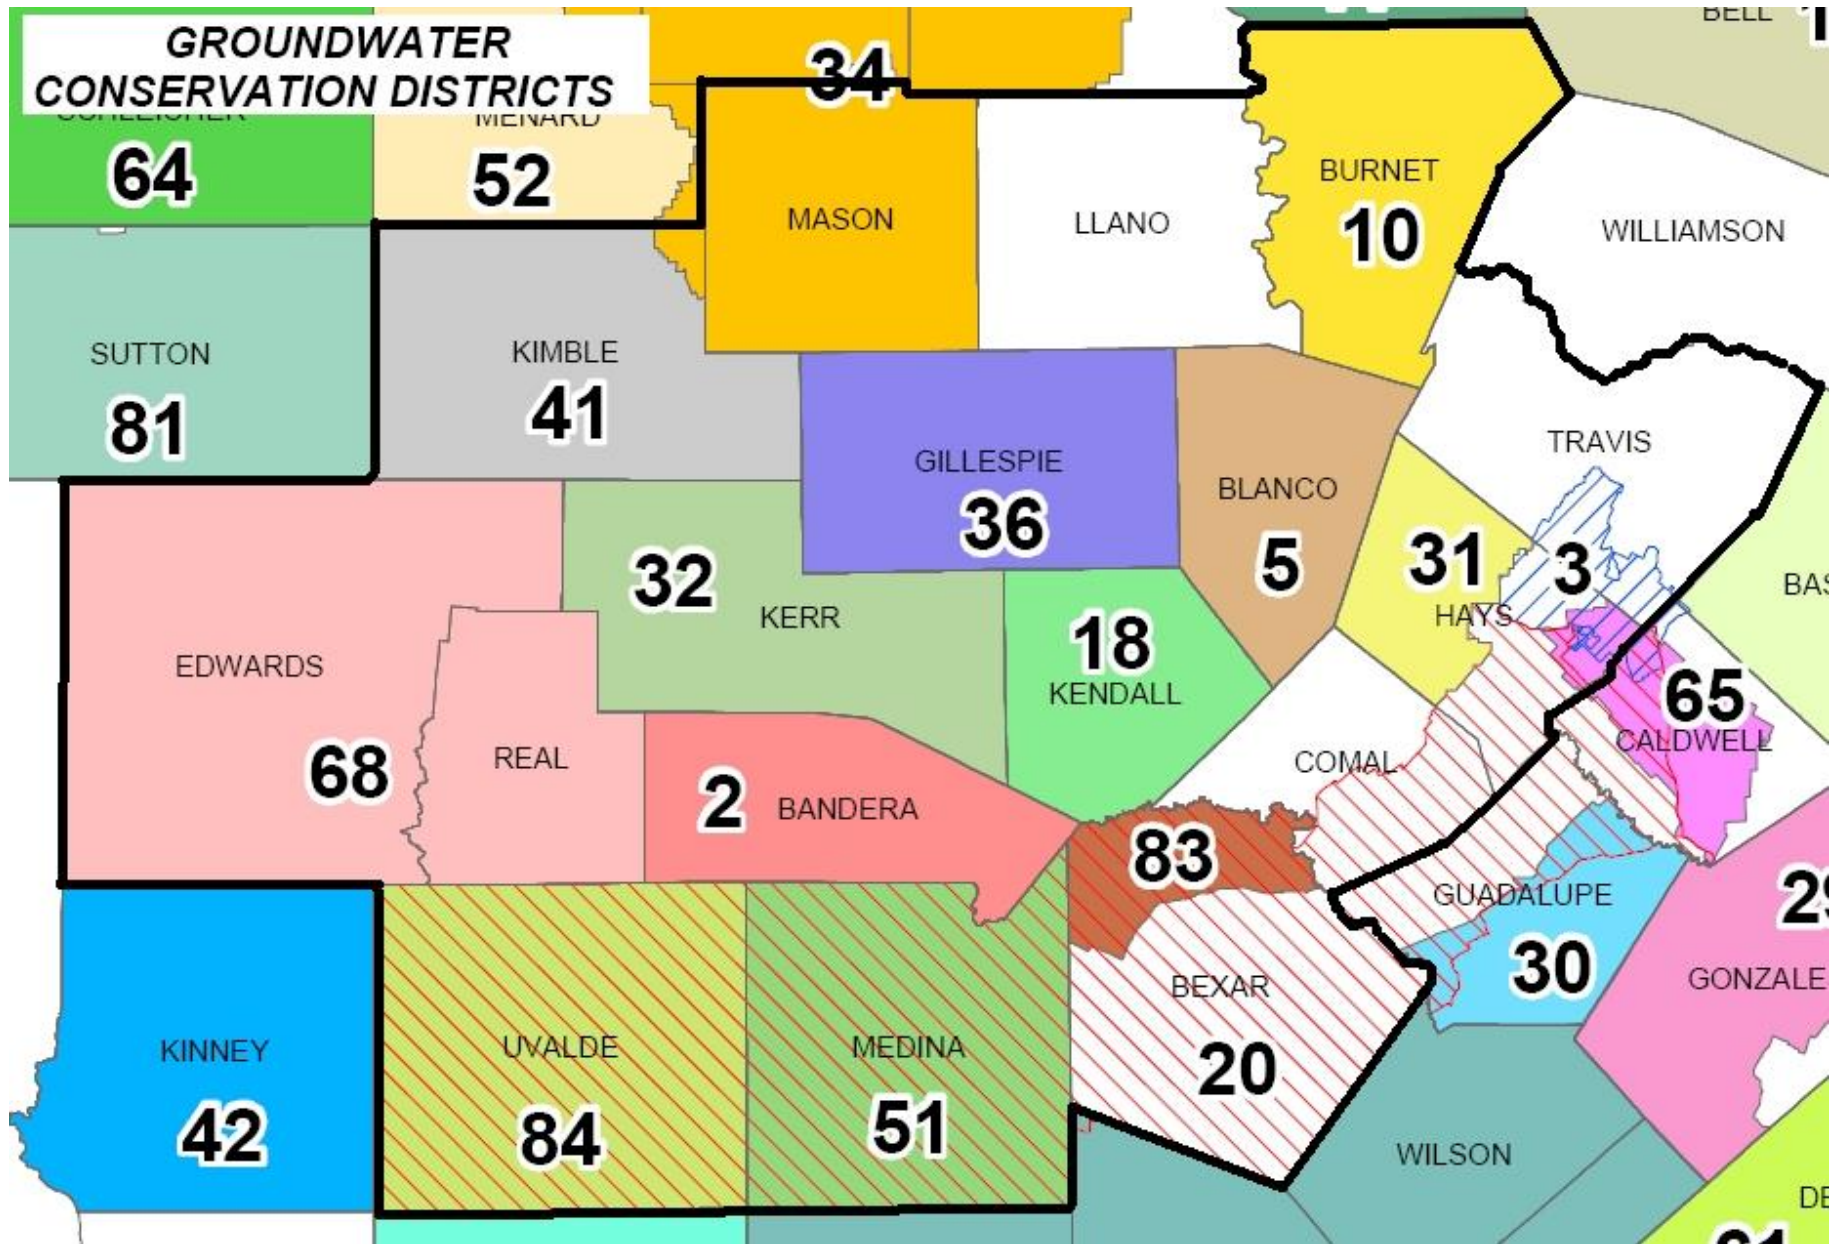

All groundwater districts are members of the Texas Alliance of Groundwater Districts online at <http://www.texasgroundwater.org>

A summary of the authority, operations, and programs for these districts is online at <http://www.texasgroundwater.org/DistrictPrograms.htm>

River Authority and Special Law Districts

“Texas Water Info” contains much information regarding river authorities online at <http://www.txwin.net/Monitoring/SW/RA's.htm>

Many districts exist in the Hill Country. The following slides present information for these districts– their names, a map showing the boundary of their authority, and hyperlinks to their Internet homepages.
