Celebrate Earth Day April 21 with this amazing film based on protecting Yosemite, and try not to get inspired.

The film follows David Brower and his fight to preserve the American Wilds, starting with the moment he witnessed the extraordinary beauty of the Yosemite Valley. At the heart of the film are the themes that absorbed the Sierra Club founder - the threatened beauty of the American earth, the spiritual connection between humans and the great outdoors, and the moral obligation to preserve what is left of the world's natural wonders.
